Can Indonesia Free Itself From Corruption in 2020?

Hikmahanto Juwana
Professor of Law
University of Indonesia

Unthinkable

- It would be unthinkable if Indonesia would be free from corruption today, in 2020 or even beyond
- No countries is able to free themselves from corruption
- The focus is not on freeing a country from corruption, but the need of workable legal mechanism to punish corruptors and deter people from corrupt practices
KPK and Special Court for Corruption Offenses

- Indonesia has a workable legal mechanism to punish those who are involved in corruption offenses
- The KPK and the Special Court is the workable and reliable mechanism
- Not only those found guilty sentenced to prison, but they are made poor and in some instances their political rights are revoked

The Challenge

- The Challenge for Indonesia is how to replicate what KPK has done to the Police Force and Prosecutor Office
- KPK and the Special Court alone cannot fight corruption: The Police Force and Prosecutor Office need to be empowered
The other challenge for Indonesia is how to make sure that fighting corruption, not be used as
- political commodity
- label to bring down good people (in the Soeharto days it was PKI, the Indonesian Communist Party)
- to cause anxiety for individuals within the bureaucracy or state owned enterprise that their decision would create loss to State budget
- a means for individual within authorities to obtain financial gain

All these will result in good and clean people from entering the government
